

Established in 1982 by the five children of Aldo Leopold and his wife Estella, the Aldo Leopold Foundation is a conservation organization that works to inspire an ethical relationship between people and nature through Leopold's legacy. This vision of a "land ethic" was not meant to be rigid or dogmatic; instead, Leopold intended for it to evolve continually through personal reflection, open dialogue, and people's actions on the land and in their communities. We invite you to join us as we work to weave a land ethic into society and encourage its unfolding in a myriad of ways.

Visit our headquarters in Baraboo, Wis. to learn more about Leopold in our free exhibit hall or to experience the green-building design of the Leopold Center. Tours of Leopold's Shack and Farm, a National Historic Landmark, are offered regularly, or consider joining us each fall for the spectacle of Crane Congregations when thousands of sandhill cranes gather along the Wisconsin River just behind the Shack before their migration.
